

She Said

The Moffatts

The wind is whispering out her name,
Calling me closer to her flame
The clouds have spelled out words she said,
And I can't help myself
Falling in over my head for her.
Woah, for her.

I felt the times
We should go our separate ways,
But the way she sees it
Everything will be okay.

She said everything will be okay,
She said I love you each and every day,
She said I'll never ever go away
Everything will be okay.

I was up last night
Saw a picture frame,
Made me think of the times I felt the same.
The times when I held you keep running through my head
And I can't stop thinking
Of the words you said to me.
Woah, to me.

I felt the times
We should go our separate ways,
But the way she sees it
Everything will be okay.

She said everything will be okay,
She said I love you each and every day,
She said I'll never ever go away
Everything will be okay.

She said everything will be okay,
She said I love you each and every day,
She said I'll never ever go away
Everything will be okay.