

Going Nowhere

The Moody Blues

Once more I've loved, I've laughed and I've lost
Now I'm alone left counting the cost
Once more sweet child of middling years
Basted again in bitter-sweet tears
I will survive the solitude
But come alive
I'll love anew

Somebody tell me you love me
Somebody tell me you care
I've got a heart full of giving
Going nowhere
Going nowhere

Daylight will come and steal the night sights
Starlight on black replaced with gray lights
Now I must go out and set my best pace
Running all day in the human race
But now I know the good news
Before you win, you have to lose

Somebody tell me you love me
Somebody tell me you care
I've got a heart full of giving
Going nowhere
Going nowhere

How much longer must I travel on?
Looking for someone to help me sing my song
How much longer will it be?
I need to find someone
For the love
From me
(I need someone to help me, help me!!)

Somebody tell me you love me
Somebody tell me you care
I've got a heart full of giving
Going nowhere, going nowhere
