The Sound Of Something Secure

The Morning Of

So here's to what we do best You'll never here this about the rest But, it seems like times are changing So i guess i'll start explaining Give it to me nice and slow And then, i'll teach you everything i know

Can you hear it?
Can you hear it calling?
Raise the mast and set the sail.
We'll carve a path, we'll start a trail.
Keep the cannons ready
Because i can not see what is up ahead.

The choirs singing reckless nonsense The words assemble answers in our heads And i have hope of coming home

So let me defend your honor
And i will give you my name
My valor grows with exuberance
And now our souls are sustained
And to this cosmic correction
Of our undying dreams
And we'll let fate play it's part
As well pull ties from the seems

Can you hear it?
Can you hear it calling?
Raise the mast and set the sail.
We'll carve a path, we'll start a trail.
Keep the cannons ready
Because i can not see what is up ahead.

Have you solved this riddle? Decipher my rhyme. The universe works easier; When you keep it in mind.

The choirs singing reckless nonsense The words assemble answers in our heads And i have hope of coming home

The choirs singing reckless nonsense (the stars they tell me the message)
The words assemble answers in our heads (that tomorrow is finally here)
And i have hope of coming home

Have you solved this riddle? Decipher my rhyme. The universe works easier; When you keep it in mind