

Short Song About the 10 Freeway

The Mountain Goats

Evening came on like a big red wing
And the dying sun, split his colors on everything,
And as the night came on, you burst into song
And you scraped your car up against the guardrail
And god is present in the sweeping gesture
But the devil is in the details