

Stars Around Her

The Mountain Goats

i saw the darkness coming down, it posed no threat to me i let the darkness ease its way around it was every good thing i'd expected it would be i saw you coming,
through the twisting vines outside i saw the new moon collide with the stars
clustered around her.

i saw the young fruit, on the new lime i felt your breath catch it's rhythm.
i heard your legs push away the tall dry brush i saw the moon and the stars and knew the secrets within them. i heard you saying
my name into my ear
no one has to tell me
why you've come here,
'cause i know.
i know.
i know.