

I Dare You

The Murder of My Sweet

Are you some one who needs to have control and never work in doubt?
A little person in this big,
big world who thinks he's got it planned?

Just take a second, try to read between the lines
Have you ever wandered off this static line?
Well, do you listen to your heart or to your mind?
Poor judgment seeds the crime

Cause I found gold,
Where no one else would search for fear of trying
I fought the cold,
When no one dared to speak unless their told
I had to know
It's easier to walk the given road but I want more
I dare you to let go

Are you some one who needs to have it all and measure wealth in things?
A greedy millionaier who thinks his only pleasure lies in sin?

Just take a second, try to read between the lines
Have you ever wandered off this static line?
Well, do you listen to your heart or to your mind?
Poor judgement seeds the crime

Dare to live like no tomorrow
Dare to lead on, don't just follow

Where only eagles dare to fly
Do we outgrow our curious minds?
So stop the hour glass
Freeze all the space and time
Can't change the past but you have learned

You can not change, you can not change the past,
you can not change
You can not change, you can not change the past