The Narrative

Dress, dress me down
I don't mind
Leave me to my insides
I don't need this lonely skin
Anymore

Take, take it all
Rook to king
I've been guarding something
You keep chasing me to walls
Always

And that's the way she leads me
It feels like she's always
Fighting just to reach me

That old disguise
Sinking slow
And are you feeling so alone?
Maybe we should speak our minds
Baby

It's not that I'm Insecure
I just need to be sure
These things tend to burn with time
Always

And that's the way she leads me
It feels like she's always
Fighting just to reach me

My hands are wandering astray
My queen moves every single way
I swear I don't believe in love
This is as close as I can come

Dress, dress me down
I don't mind
Leave me to my insides
I don't need this lonely skin
Anymore

And that's the way she leads me
It feels like she's always
Fighting just to reach me
These shades in squares remain
But soon they will run even
And when they're all the same
We'll find each other easily

My hands are wandering astray
My queen moves every single way
I swear I don't believe in love
This is as close as I can come
There's nothing left that I won't say
As my queen moves every single way
