

On Planet Off

The Notwist

I have never been here on my own
It's pushing me off today
I can hear the clink in every bone
It's pushing me off today

But I would never beat you up
For being that off today
I would never beat you up
For being that off today

Hope I never swim my rounds alone
There's always someone who knows me well
Hope I never run my lanes alone
There's always someone who knows too well

That I would never beat you up
For being that off today
I would never before
For being that off today

Hope I never swim my rounds alone
There's always someone who knows me well
Hope I never run my lanes alone
There's always someone who knows too well

That I would never beat you up
For being that off today
I would never beat one up
For being that off today