Too Many Heartaches

The Oak Ridge Boys

Too many heartaches caused by too many promises made by Too many lovers in the heat of the night. Too many teardrops fall on too many pillows shed by Too many lovers in the heat of the night.

The words I love you are no mystery to me You're not the first to dry your eyes. There ain't a heart that hasn't hurt like yours and mine Torn apart by promises and lies.

Yes love is easy but love is rarely true It ain't a lie that true love's hard to find So make me an offer, don't feed me silly lies No need for hesitation, no need for alibis.

Because too many heartaches caused by too many promises made by Too many lovers in the heat of the night Too many teardrops fall on too many pillows shed by Too many lovers in the heat of the night.

Sometimes I find myself just lying there in bed Wondering how it's gonna be this time. Now if I had a dollar for every time I'd been misled I'd surely be the richest man alive. So if you're looking for a restless heart like mine. If promises of love are fair, let's stop wasting time.

Too many heartaches caused by too many promises made by Too many lovers in the heat of the night. Too many teardrops fall on too many pillows shed by Too many lovers in the heat of the night.

Too many heartaches caused by too many promises made by Too many lovers in the heat of the night. Too many teardrops fall on too many pillows shed by Too many lovers in the heat of the night.

Too many heartaches caused by too many promises made by Too many lovers in the heat of the night. Too many teardrops fall on too many pillows shed by Too many lovers in the heat of the night.

Too many heartaches caused by too many promises made by Too many lovers in the heat of the night. Too many teardrops fall on too many pillows shed by Too many lovers in the heat of the night.