

Curtains for You

The Only Ones

There is nothing you could hope to gain
By doin' this
To be here in your arms is like
Falling off of a precipice, baby
Going down, oh down, right down

Oh no, you just can't win
There's no sense in sufferin'
As the rocks tumble and the earth slides too
This means it's curtains for you

This means curtains for you
This means curtains for you
You must have such a tangled mind

Oh, you blow from hot to cold
You even like to go out every Saturday night
You pale beside the image you hold
The lights dim, the circus rolls
Oh, roll on

Oh no, you just can't win
There's no sense in sufferin'
As the rocks tumble and the earth slides too
This means it's curtains for you

This means curtains for you
This means curtains for you
You never really understood me

This means curtains for you
This means curtains for you
This means curtains for you
This means curtains for you
(This means curtains for you)