John Lennon

The Outfield

A soul full of anger - but nothing to show A world wrapped in cotton - but nowhere to go Obsessed by a woman that you didn't know Don't turn around - don't turn around

Torn between lovers - both mothers as well A mind a prison - a heart in a cell If only the screams could be heard from this hell Don't turn around - don't turn around

You were surprised by a girl in the sky who changed everyone
And as your life became so mystified
There was a lonely heart - left by the side

Tomorrow could never be just one more day Confused by an image - refusing to stay The child in your mind always wanted its way Don't turn around - don't turn around

Then on a day in your life still remembered by everyone There was a man with a gun at his side You and your monkey had nowhere to hide

He was the man that was sent from the rye Don't turn around - don't turn around

So many things on his mind
I'm not sure if he knew
Why he blew you away
I can't decide if it's true
What he thought on that day

Don't be afraid when the day turns to night Don't be ashamed when I turn out the lights Call out my name and I'd hold you so tight Don't turn around - don't turn around
