Let There Be Morning

The Perishers

Now the end is drawing near I can't belive it's finally here Take some time to pray for me For what will be

Let the sun rise Let the birds sing Let there be light Let there be morning I don't know how I made it till now Let there be light Let there be morning Let there be morning

Hello future goodbye past Now each breath can be my last Will I see another dawn? Will I be reborn?

Let the sun rise Let the birds sing Let there be light Let there be morning I don't know how I made it till now Let there be light Let there be morning

Let the sun rise Let the birds sing Let there be light Let there be morning I don't know how I made it till now Let there be light Let there be morning