The Pillows

I can't recall The last time she laughed That empty shell of a girl This town, it's completely changed The loneliness growing inside you Will you share it with me I want to see what you use d to be

She closed her door But I kept knocking until it broke Don't be afraid Look, you're free now Let's just go and get soaked In t his neverending rain

I don't want you to lose hope Even if those vicious animals Wer e to blindfold me Don't worry, I'm okay I'll surely be able to feel Just your light It's plain to see It's small, but there's a blue crack In her frozen sky Don't wo rry See, you're free now Let's just go and get soaked In this n everending rain

Even though our hearts may ache From the sorrow of growing up D on't hesitate We're still living our dreams I'd like to take yo u Beyond those clouds
