

Evaluation Day

The Planet Smashers

You want to tell your boss what you've been thinking
You want to make sure he knows what you're doing
You work overtime never show up late,
You're sweating for the company and hoping for a raise

It's one more week until evaluation day
You're setting up your boss just to give you that raise You're smiling so much your cheeks are getting sore Hate the things you do just to get a little more
You need some time to think it over

These are the days you get to work on time, tow the company line to get a raise next time
These are the days that you try to be seen, be the bosses pet when you're playing for the team

You're filling out the forms as you've been told You deserve more cash for the crap you take You long for the day when your boss is on vacation
You're dreaming of the day when your boss takes a vacation

You want to tell your boss what you're really thinking
You want to let him know that his company sucks
Wouldn't it be nice just to flip him the finger
But you're just going to sit there and take it in the ass Need some time to think it over

These are the days that you try to be seen, be the bosses dream and you're playing for the team
These are the days that you're dressing all fresh, trying to impress when it's time for a rest

These are the days that you try to be seen, be the bosses wet dream makes you want to scream
These are the days that you get to work on time tow the company line until the day you die!!!
