

Domino Theory

The Plot in You

This fire that burns inside of me is tearing me apart
The lifeless shadow in my head is trying to pull me in My words will grow still and my worth will expire
Such a shattered sense of home from these distances

There are things I'll never take
There are times I behind leave
There are things I'll never take
There are times I behind leave
There are things I'll never take
There are times I behind leave

Give me the strength and keep me safe if I collapse
Never imagined that your words could steal my life
When I'm lost in the darkest time you lead my hand

Together we can save the world ends
After a storm the stars will shine again
After a storm the sun will always go back to shine
Stay close to all your friends
See the fire in your eyes
You never thought you could change everything

Close your eyes and take a deep breath
They are listening
Open your mouth and throw out everything
We are the sunlight in your eyes
And love is our only weapon
Left my fears behind my fucking back
This is the message you must crave on your chest

I feel your evil tongue around my neck
A thousand hands drag me down to hell
You can promise me a life but I can not do the same
I will be sleeping in your golden bed