

Can't Let You Go

The Poodles

I know i should stay away But i can't resist you I'm out of my head, out of my mind Right from the start i knew When you walked inside the room Well you stepped inside my heart Only a fool rush in, they say And there is no denying Was nothin else for me to do

Now i got to find my way To make it home And believe me that i know It's not your fault

But i want you to know (I want you to know) And i want you to see (i want you to see) That i can't let you go (i can't let you go) And there's only you for me

Can you recall my touch at all How i used to kiss you Or was it only in my mind A blink of an eye and you where gone Whatever happend? Well i don't know Did i hurt you so bad..?

Now you're out of sight You're out of reach Regardless of my questions You don't speak

But i want you to know (i want you to know) And i want you to see (i want you to see) That i can't let you go. (i can't let you go) And there's only you for me.

Oh i know i must come to my senses Rise and walk from it all It takes a fool to be vice And it's all that i have Feels like it's eating my soul
