

Echoes From the Past

The Poodles

Do you remember, do you recall.
Oh, that moment we lost it all.
Everything, I'd die, if you choose not to fight.
On and on, the same old story.
Another night we fall from glory.
When will we ever learn.

Forever, and ever hear me calling you.
The echoes from the past, oh.
Wherever, whenever you should call my name.
I swear, I will be there, don't you know.

To cut the rope, I am still afraid.
'Cause I know, nothings left to say.
Because we ran, I can never return.
I lose my mind, inside I'm craving.
I turn to God, he laughs, he's saying.
When will you ever learn.

Forever, and ever hear me calling you.
The echoes from the past, oh.
Wherever, whenever you should call my name.
I swear, I will be there, don't you know.

Forever, and ever hear me calling you.
The echoes from the past, oh.
Wherever, whenever you should call my name.
I swear, I will be there, don't you know. (I will be there for you.)

Forever, and ever hear me calling you.
The echoes from the past, oh. (Yeah, the echoes from the past.)
Wherever, whenever you should call my name.
I swear, I will be there, don't you know.