

Spinning Around In The Air

The Proclaimers

Let me give praise to your sparkling eyes
And your coloured hair.
Let me spend ages on poetic phrases
To show I care.
Let me go grazing on dappled green pastures
Where you're the mare.
Let me rephrase that
I think there's a better line there,
Spinning around in the air.

Let me donate something to a kid's charity
Of your choice.
For you I would willingly be a worse traitor
Than William Joyce.
If I could sing I would sing you a song
In Sam Cooke's voice.
Let me rephrase that
I think there's a better line there,
Spinning around in the air.

Are you happy now?
Say yeah, yeah, yeah.
Are you really happy now?
Say yeah, yeah, yeah.
Tell me where it hurts.
It hurts there and there and there.
Adverbs and nouns
Juicy and round
Spinning around in the air.

Are you happy now?
Say yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah.
Are you really happy now?
Say yeah, yeah, yeah.
Tell me where it hurts.
It hurts there and there and there.
Adverbs and nouns
Juicy and round
Spinning around in the air.

Madam Onassis took Ari's old glasses
And put them on.
She said "I see ships" and she started to quip
About old Boston.
I climbed over her just to climb upon you,
What did I do wrong?
Let me rephrase that
I think there's a better line there,
Spinning around in the air.
