Between Pacific Coasts

The Promise Ring

Down the lane, I breathe out loud in half frozen air. And the black amnesias in heaven are lighting a half moon on th e stairs. And I bite my lip when I breathe out loud. Wrapped in Japanese paper all the way around.

California can't see the sun rise, Because smoke doesn't climb like it lingers. Runs long on a broken lung.