

Bread And Coffee

The Promise Ring

Drown yourself in bread and coffee
Fast forward, right through the news
We spend weeks just window shopping
What else can we really do? We could be anybody

And every time you take the water
We are too afraid to smile
Our faces turn transparent, paper glass after a while
We see everybody

And it's a long distraction
Between our satisfactions
And any good time should be
Just rolling by

Now the bees are indicators, maybe we should go outside
A fire drill keeps humming
There are floods that change the tide
There's one day for everybody

We are pairs of apple lions
Starved for clothes that we could wear
And long strings of double lookers
Easy listeners everywhere, we could be anybody

And it's a long distraction
Between our better actions
Any good time should be
Just rolling by

We keep a graveyard of ships sunk in glass
The silverware is buried out back

And it's a long distraction
Between our satisfactions
Any good time should be
Just rolling by
