Valentine

The Psychedelic Furs

With all her talk of all the others When it shadows everything And I can't think About her silence and her rings

I see no place to pin my thought
And where's what's true between the lines
And in her eyes
I see nothing not a sign

And I'm untied I can't unwind Your valentines And I'm untied

I can't unwind Your valentines

Sunday morning comes too soon To leave me standing in my light And there's no time To set it straight or take a side

And I'm untied I can't unwind Your valentines And I'm untied

I can't unwind Your valentines

I see no place to pin my thoughts
And where's what's true between the lines
And in her eyes
I see nothing not a sign

And I'm untied I can't unwind Your valentines And I'm untied

I can't unwind Your valentines
