

Heavy Metal Tears

The Pursuit Of Happiness

Heavy metal tears are what the kids are crying
Their tender hearts heal easily while ours are slowly dying
For them when romance fails it's something they can learn from
But when I hear your broken voice I realize how little I know
Heavy metal tears only last for one night
But for myself I believe there's no end in sight
"I want to be your everything" is something only the young can relate to
I used to brag, I used to boast about where my love could take you
I always wanted to believe in love at first sight
But I grew up and realized it's all in my mind
Heavy metal tears only last for one night
But for myself I believe there's no end in sight
Heavy metal tears are what the kids are crying
Their broken hearts heal easily while ours are slowly dying