

Run You

The Qemists

It doesn't matter what they say
I won't accept it in any single way
And out through the floors
And out through the cabling
They're permeating it through every single day

But I won't be confined by the regimented borders
We hold the strength of over fifty thousand soldiers
We're not duty bound to anybody's orders.

Come on everybody now
Don't let them run you.

They're gonna take it all away
This is a war and the enemy's engaging
But you can see through their lies
And decide for your life

I won't be confined by their regimented borders
We hold the strength of over fifty thousand soldiers
We're not duty bound to anybody's orders

Come on everybody now
Don't let em' run you.
