Reflection

The Rabble

I have regrets for what I've done
On a bloody razor's-edge I'm fucking forced
To run (run away)
This consequence was misery (it's staring back at me)
Gazing into the eye of hate
With repercussions of no escape (this fate)
These actions haunt you 'til the bitter end
Pain and pleasure flash before your eyes

This reflection is my
Own worst fear
I've come to grips and
Now it's so clear
I don't seem to like
What's staring at me?
They say "you've got to move on"

This reflection is my Own worst fear
I've come to grips and
Now it's so clear
I don't seem to like
What's staring at me?
They say "you've got to move on"

I am running from the Gun pointed at my head
Another wake up call to the mess I've spread
Yeah I don't want to quit, so hell yeah
I'm listening what solution can you offer?
From the life I'm pissing Up against the wall, come and watch me fall
Into a state of degradation, a stagger to a crawl
The mirror stares right back at Me with a feeling of dismay
Tiny cracks of anger, giant leaps to disarray

This reflection is my Own worst fear
I've come to grips and
Now it's so clear
I don't seem to like
What's staring at me?
They say "you've got to move on"

This reflection is my Own worst fear
I've come to grips and
Now it's so clear
I don't seem to like
What's staring at me?
They say "you've got to move on"

This reflection
This reflection is my own worst fear
I've come to grips and now it's so clear
I don't seem to like what's staring at me

(Stop staring at me)

This reflection is my Own worst fear
