Shakespeare's Tragedy

The Rembrandts

I don't want you
But I'm inclined to
I think you're the only fool like me

And if you want to You could hurt me now And bring me a world of misery

I don't wanna make you I just wanna take you down To the cool, clear water Under the sun filled sky

Well, I need you and you need me God alone knows why God alone knows why

And if you want to
Have someone to love you now
Why shouldn't it be a fool like me?

'Cause we're the only ones laughin' At Shakespeare's Tragedy And wouldn't you miss my company?

I don't wanna make you
I just wanna take you down
By the cool clear water
Under the sun filled sky

Well, I need you and you need me God alone knows why God alone knows why God alone knows why

I don't want you
Well, I'm inclined to
I think you're the only fool like me

Won't you meet me down By the cool clear water Under the sun filled sky?

Well, I need you and you need me God alone knows why, oh yeah By the the cool clear water Under the sun filled sky

Well, I need you and you need me God alone knows why God alone knows why Knows why God alone knows why
