

Never

The Restarts

Why is there always some cunt thinking he knows best, claiming he should be in charge and make decisions for the rest
Why do the masses so easily switch off their brains, queuing up in line to vote believing they will make a change.

Never Never Never Never
Don't look down the ladder for someone to blame
Never Never Never Never
While the topcats get fatter when you play their game

Why does this unfair system they want us to obey always privilege those born into rich families, why does the hard working man have to break his back, while the merchant banker makes a fortune trading stock.

Why are there families deported just for crossing a line only drawn about a thousand years back in time, why does race or colour matter in what judgement you get,
you can't just generalise people that you've never even met.
