

Darling Girl

The Rifles

I hear the voices and how they spread throughout my town can't be avoided
Don't want to bring you down but girl the choices and the actions that you choose are disappointing
And you know I know how much you hate to lose

But it's only what I'm hearing from the street why won't you listen to me?
Fixing the pieces temporarily to stop the weeping

We'll only fall apart eventually 'cause
Darling girl, only time will tell
Don't you think that I'd come back to bring you down?
Oh my darling girl, how you write it off so well without a frown?

Oh when the voices
can't be avoided
And they'll only leave you feeling disappointed And alone you start to think about the choices and begin to hear them echo through the room

But it's only what I'm thinking
I believe I know you better than me
Fixing the pieces temporarily to stop the weeping

We'll only fall apart eventually 'cause
Darling girl, only time will tell
Don't you think that I'd come back to bring you down?
Oh my darling girl, how you write it off so well
without a frown?