The Great Gaels

The Roches

The great Gaels of Ireland The race that God made mad For all their wars are merry And all their songs are sad words remembered by John A. Roche From a poem by G.K. Chesterton Called "The Balled of the White Horse." (thanks to Peter Fallon) music derived from a traditional Irish fiddle tune entitled "Jo hn Roche's Favorite"