

Warm Where You Lay

The Rosebuds

I've got all I need
And it's right here next to me
In the morning, in the evening
In the warm where you lay
The cold world melts away

A partner in our crimes
Right here by my side
We could steal away this day
And forget, oh, take a break
From this cold, cold world and run away

Let's go outside
And forget all the news you read
I promise we'll be back by noon
You can't feel love, it's okay to take days off
When you work as much as we do and that's the truth

Remember the first night
Our needs fit just right
And I knew that from that day
I would always save a place
For the warm where you lay

I would always save a place
For the warm where you lay
