Welcome To The Walk Alone

The Rumble Strips

Welcome to the walk alone Come right on in, make yourself at home Pull up a road and so Keep them footsteps comin' Joe As a traffic jam strikes up a drone We'll sing the only song we only know

About how we've loved, and how we fell And how we'll spend our days 'till hell Just walking slow

We will never walk together That place has gone right out of style It's been a long while And young and clever Laughing around so easily Well that's OK They'll be here some day

Welcome to the walk alone Our spoils were worth our weight in stones Pull up a road but no And I have thoughts that I own Keep them that way and leave mine alone And we'll be just fine Keeps the place alive