The Saints

I've taken a chance it's more than I have before when I look at you girl I don't need no more I can't understand these feelings of mine because of you it's going to be alright You know that chance girl it don't often come this world it gets you & keeps you on the run I've messed around & wasted my time but someone like you is so hard to find These days will soon be passed but memories I know will last of the times I spent with you Babe I know what I've been told but there is something here that I can hold & I know because of you
