

Stone Tears

The Samples

when it was dark above the ground heat from below was all they found standing here for all these years if a statue could shed stone tears

why they fight no one knows they're all too young long time ago
standing here for all these years

peace by day bullets by night their ancient walls protect them now no one feels the heat from the earth their minds are at war feet full of nerves

and soldiers stare
at the figures so tall born into war

their ancient walls
their ancient walls
