

Still The Only One

The Saw Doctors

all of the fighting is over all of the battles are won all of the words have been spoken and you are still the only one all of the heavens have opened all of the rivers are run all of the dams have been broken you are still the only one

the only one, the only one
you are still the only one

and all of the time we have taken all of the joy and the fun all of the years, the tears and the fears
and you are still the only one

although the winter storm still rages there's a new dawn just begun full of hope and new courageous
and you are still the only one
the only one, the only one
you are still the only one
the only one, the only one
you are still the only one