

Talk About Love

The Scene Aesthetic

You mean so much to me,
And I can't explain,
This death grip that you've got me in,
And I know you're struggling,
But it'll be fine.

And I find it easier to sleep,
When I know you're laying next to me,
To live within your warmth,
It calms my mind.

Don't you understand,
What it take to be your friend?
I wish you could see,
What you're doing to me.

Yeah, you,
You talk about love,
We're falling so far,
From all of the people that should mean the most,
But I won't say goodbye.
And you,
You talk about life,
That won't compromise,
Your popular chances,
Start changing your life.
This is your moment to throw it away
It's never too late to start over again.

You look so cute without your makeup on,
And I love how you are never wrong,
But you never show your strengths,
You're too scared of what they'll think.

Listen up, I'm gonna tell you what I'm gonna do,
You're kinda nervous and you think they've got it up for you,
Pack your bags, let's run away,
And we'll make sure each day counts.

Don't you understand,
What it take to be your friend?
I wish you could see,
What you're doing to me

Yeah, you,
You talk about love,
We're falling so far,
From all of the people that should mean the most,
But I won't say goodbye.
And you,
You talk about life
That won't compromise,
Your popular chances,
Start changing your life.
This is your moment to throw it away,
It's never too late to start over again.

I'm just looking for the chance to go and make this right
So send your signal in the attic, bring me home tonight.

I'm just looking for the chance to go and make this right
So send your signal in the attic, bring me home tonight.

I'm just looking for the chance to go and make this right
So send your signal in the attic, bring me home tonight.

I'm just looking for the chance to go and make this right
So send your signal in the attic, bring me home tonight.

Don't you understand,
What it take to be your friend?
I wish you could see,
What you're doing to me

Yeah, you,
You talk about love,
We're falling so far,
From all of the people that should mean the most,
But I won't say goodbye.
And you,
You talk about life
That won't compromise,
Your popular chances,
Start changing your life.
This is your moment to throw it away,
It's never too late to start over again.