

Yes, Even Stars Break

The Scene Aesthetic

Alone at last
Sleeping to help ease my pain
And I take it back
You'll never be this close to me
And I breathe in deep
It helps me to avoid this state
You've put me in
You've put me in

And now that I can deal
With everything you've thrown at me
And how does it feel
To know that you could never fix
The way we see
The way you left us without any reasoning
Without reasoning

I lay you to rest
In my head, stored away to never return
I'll forget everything you left back at home
Please know I'm always looking back on our scripted memories

I lay you to rest
In my head, stored away to never return
I'll forget everything you left back at home
Please know I'm always looking back on our scripted memories

Look at how I've grown just see
These burdens you put on us helped
Get me to be
The man I was supposed to be
He breathes in deep

It helps him realize how everything in his whole life progressed
He's fine I swear and he'll confess to you, 'cause
Tonight he'll find his way back home
Forget about the plans we've made
I'll never let this go
Confess to you, 'cause
Tonight he'll find his way back home
Forget about the plans we made
I'll never let this go

I lay you to rest
In my head, stored away to never return
I'll forget everything you left back at home
Please know I'm always looking back on our scripted memories

I lay you to rest
In my head, stored away to never return
I'll forget everything you left back at home
Please know I'm always looking back on our scripted memories

Broken faith and wasted breath
Photographs are all that's left
Broken faith and wasted breath
Photographs are all that's left

Broken faith and wasted breath
Photographs are all that's left
Of you, of you

(Broken faith and wasted breath
Photographs are all that's left)
We've come a long way to look back on you right now
(Broken faith and wasted breath
Photographs are all that's left)
We've spent too many days trying to find you out
(Broken faith and wasted breath
Photographs are all that's left)
We still hold close to us our memories
Of you, of you

I lay you to rest
In my head, stored away to never return
I'll forget everything you left back at home
Please know I'm always looking back on our scripted memories

I lay you to rest
In my head, stored away to never return
I'll forget everything you left back at home
Please know I'm always looking back on our scripted memories

I lay you to rest
In my head, stored away to never return
I'll forget everything you left back at home
Please know I'm always looking back on our scripted memories

I lay you to rest
In my head, stored away to never return
I'll forget everything you left back at home
Please know I'm always looking back on our scripted memories