

World Gone Crazy

The Screaming Jets

I don't know what I did last night but that's all behind me.
I don't know where my cigarettes are but
I know they will save me.
I scratch myself,
I cough and squint my eyes at the burning smoke and boil myself
an instant cappuccino.
I want to know why the world's gone so crazy,
Who needs the passion of a man insane.
I want to know why the world's gone so crazy.
I can't find my coffee cup.
I never do the washing up.
I guess I better find myself a girlfriend.
And I don't know where I parked my car
But it's not in the driveway.
I guess it can't be too far away,
I crawled home.
I want to know why the world's gone so crazy,
Who needs the actions of man insane?
I want to know why the world's gone so crazy.
I don't know where I parked my car and
I don't know where my cigarettes are.
Will somebody help me to find myself.
I want to know why the world's gone so crazy,
I'm sick of the actions of a man insane.
I want to know why the world's gone so crazy.
Won't somebody tell me what goin on,
You're marching to death to the beat of a drum.
I want to know why the world's gone so crazy.
