```
So long now
It seems as though it passed me by
And never thought to say to me
Will you no, come back again
So long now,
A memory of promises
Look and say quite distantly
Will you no, come back again
So long
So long now
The loneliness of honesty
Exposed and cost indifferently
Will you no, come back again
So long now,
The last remain of faithfulness
So long now
Will you no, come back again
So long
So long now
It seemed as though it's passed me by
So long now
A memory of promises
So long now
I change again so easily
So long now
The loneliness of honesty
Called and said goodbye to me, so long now,
Will you no, come back again.
```

Lie, lie, lie, lie.