Pets of the World

The Slackers

Every day I walk each known direction And every word I say is no correction Just another day I know selection But all I know Is I don't know Is my confession

• • •

I don't know what you want What you do, or what you don't