Take me, take me, they yell in despair The ocean waves will swallow all of us, all of this lost Eyes bulging wide at the end of the ropes And the victims can clearly see someone's all below Questioning, questioning Can a hero be of help? I'll be right here waiting. Mother, young child and an easy way out God's making decisions of who stays Who stays behind The boy shuts his eyes, hugs his mother goodbye She's screaming out his name As he slips below. Questioning, questioning Can a hero be of help? I'll be right here waiting. Answer me, answer me Every hero to the help, I'll be right here waiting. Right here waiting. Take me. Take me. The boy shuts his eyes, hugs his mother goodbye She's screaming out his name As he slips below. Questioning, questioning Can a hero be of help? I'll be right here waiting. Answer me, answer me Every hero to the help, I'll be right here waiting. Right here waiting. Right here waiting. Right here waiting. I'm right here waiting. I'm right here waiting...