

God Knows

The Sleepy Jackson

Time's ticking,
you should just get up on the side and cheer along like... My mind's been tainted by your cunning smile and bright side down low.

God knows if you're ever going to show,
But they all know that it's dark and there's no light, no light

All I want is to lead you there.
All I want is to lead you there.
All I want is to lead you there.

In the waking of a ruined mess with streets depressed light.
Your dimes in prison lost the girl you kissed and the wells missed at home.

God knows if you're ever going to show, but they all know that it's dark and there's no light. There's no light.

All I want is to lead you there.
All I want is to lead you there.
All I want is to lead you there into the light.
