

Anchor In The Storm

The Sorrow

You are and you will always be
My anchor in the storm
The force I can hang on to
You will never let me down

Nevermore anchorless

And if the tides are close to swallow me
I will not give in
Forever I'll carry on
And if the storm is close to carry me forth
I will not give in
Forever I'll carry on

You haven't and you never will
Ever abandon me
A chain as strong as my will
Saves us from being apart

Tomorrow's dawn will never come
The sky turns black and goes on as night
The stars will fade and the sun will descend
All life will vanish as the storm hits the shore
The world known today cannot return

An ocean in despair
As closed turn into deepest grey
The horizon comes closer and hearts beat faster
The last breath taken is getting one with the storm