

Farewells

The Sorrow

I can't stop pretending
That there is something left
But still I feel your heartbeat in the dark
There are many reasons
For me to let you go
But I can't find the strength to give you up

Running! Out of words left to say
I would not! Use them anyway
The separation! Lines are drawn
What we shared! Is mostly gone

The empty glass I stare in Gave comfort for a while
Still there's so much that I can't realize
The years we spent together
The book that we have closed
And still there are some chapters left to write

Running! Out of words left to say
I would not! Use them anyway
The separation! Lines are drawn
What we shared! Is mostly gone

Take a look at our lives
Answer in honesty
Let me know if devotions left
Just go on with your life
And take care on your own way
Our journey ends on this road

Just go on with your life!
And take care on your own! Way
Our journey ends on this road!
