

her ghost never fades

The Sorrow

How many times shall a heart break unmasking myself
Take all my tears of decay that I shed
And laugh with my sanities as you rise and will kill me again
'Cause we are forsaken we are lost in the back of ourselves

Sorrow
From yourself you can't escape
My love
You're not even when I close my eyes

I feel the patrons
I close my eyes
I'd early discover
My hope we're in sight

Keep me away from, keep me away from the baddies
And up to our welfare, will you forgive me and love me again

Up at my heart with a knife you will see our blood
Take all my falling lives before it's too late
And laugh with my sanities as you rise and will kill me again
'Cause we are forsaken we are lost in the back of ourselves

Sorrow
From yourself you can't escape
My love
You're not even when I close my eyes

I feel the patrons
I close my eyes
I'd early discover
My hope we're in sight

Keep me away from, keep me away from the baddies
And up to our welfare, will you forgive me and love me again

Open your eyes see the frightened before all will perish

How many times should I ask for forgiveness
How many times, how many times
How many times should I ask for forgiveness
How many times, how many times