

Retracing Memories

The Sorrow

Inside my prison cell looking back at my life
My bones they feel so cold
While all the blood is drying out in my veins
These walls are closing in
My chains they are unseen
My heart is covered with scars of betrayal

Hopeless
How can I live when I'm already dead?
Scared of being alone can't reach the surface
I will drown again

I'm breathing the last breath
I'm taking the last step to the edge
My days are numbered
My time has come

I'm running out, out of time
In these days I will retrace my memories
I'm grieving again
Until the end I cannot hide
All the things that drag me closer to the edge

There I only one more step to go

I am a lifeless shell
Hours pass like days
My flesh is growing old
Through all the years I've seen my world disappear

I'm running out, out of time
In these days I will retrace my memories
I'm grieving again
Until the end I cannot hide
All the things that drag me closer to the edge

Trapped in a cage of unrest
There's no redeem
Trapped in a cage of unrest
There's no redeem

Prisoned and isolated
Silenced my screams

[Solo: Andy]

I'm breathing the last breath
I'm taking the last step to the edge
My days are numbered
My time has come

I'm running out, out of time
In these days I will retrace my memories
I'm grieving again
Until the end I cannot hide
All the things that drag me closer to the edge