Blue Side Of The Mountain

The SteelDrivers

There's a place in a piney hollow That no one but me can find Some Choctaw built it in the hillside Stone by stone in a simpler time

It's a holy place, my daddy showed me Back before this land of mine On the blue side of the mountain Where the sun don't ever shine

So deep and dark like a hurtin' down in my heart Maybe somethin' there will show me some kind of sign On the blue side of the mountain Where the sun don't ever shine

I'm going back to a world of shadow Gotta find some peace, for I lose my mind On the blue side of the mountain Where the sun don't ever shine

So deep and dark like a hurtin' down in my heart Maybe somethin' there will show me some kind of sign On the blue side of the mountain Where the sun don't ever shine Where the sun don't ever shine
