Gone now I keep my distance
But still show persistence in trying to find out how you are
It's really testing my patience, watching you waste this Life that you have of yours in a bar
And I get the feeling that you're gonna leave him
Cause you just can't seem to get off
You're so appealing, you can get anyone that you want somehow

Patience is useless when I'm sober and you're wasted And you don't wanna hear it, so go on just leave it

Calm down, can't we get level?
Can't we be civil? We share a lot of things
And yeah, I think back when it was simple
Before I had earned some, and all I ever did was sing
Been caught under pressure, trying to measure
How I feel 'bout this whole thing
You're so appealing, you can get anyone that you want somehow

Patience is useless when I'm sober and you're wasted And you don't wanna hear it so go on just leave it And I count the times that I'm driving home I'm talking to myself like I'm not alone Trying to figure to out who I've been running from Gotta figure out who I've been running from

I keep my distance now Forcing my jaw to smile (2x)

Patience is useless when I'm sober and you're wasted And you don't wanna hear it so go on just leave it And I count the times that I'm driving home I'm talking to myself like I'm not alone Trying to figure to out who I've been running from Gotta figure out who I've been running from
