Mermaid

I know, you'll do it, you'll do it for this One day you'll think he's the one You'll follow him over oceans, he'll promise you the world He will parade you around the seas He'll murmur his affection, his devotion He will convince you to leave the deep He'll promise you the world (But) if you'd do it anyway, why would you do it for love? If you'd do it anyway, why would you do it for love? If you'd do it anyway, why would you do it for love? Do it for... Love.. ('cause you want the ocean and not what he's giving you) You want the ocean and not what he's giving you You want the ocean and not what he's giving you... Your legs will go first, to needles and pins, And then your voice You promised him you'd come back forever He promised you the world If you'd do it anyway, why would you do it for love? If you'd do it anyway, why would you do it for love? If you'd do it anyway, why would you do it for love? If you'd do it anyway, why would you do it for love? Do it for... Love
