

I Just Want To Love You

The Strange Familiar

Take the blame off your back,
It's a burden you don't own.
Lay your head in my arms,
And I will be your home.
You can't carry this alone.

And I just wanna love you.
I don't wanna change you or judge you.
I just wanna love you,
But darling you have to learn to love you too.

I will count every line,
This life is carved in you.
Beauty lies in these eyes cause I can see the truth.
I see the strength in you.

And I just wanna love you.
I don't wanna change you or judge you.
I just wanna love you,
But darling you have to learn to love you too.
And I just wanna love,

You hide behind your massive stone.
You don't have to be alone.
Miles and lives you could've lived.
You're the only one you still need to forgive.

And I just wanna love you.
I don't wanna change you or judge you.
I just wanna love you,
I just wanna love you,

I just wanna love you.
I don't wanna change you or judge you.
I just wanna love you,
But darling you have to learn to love you too.