

Raise Your Glass

The Strange Familiar

Glad to know you're out there
Glad to know you're fine
And it's good to know you'd never walk the line

Every hour that passes,
No one ever seems to change
And I wonder if your smile is still the same

Raise your glass wherever you may be
Here's to you and here's the same to me

It's good to know you're breathing,
Is it raining where you are?
What could you be thinking,
Are you looking at the stars?

Raise your glass wherever you may be
Here's to you and here's the same to me

Catch me some fireflies tonight
Staring at the open summer sky
Raise your glass wherever you may be
Here's to you and here's the same to me

I wonder could you be awake?
Or maybe you're asleep
And maybe you are dreaming of me
