

It Didn't Matter

The Style Council

I remember all the early days
Trying to think of the right things to say
I didn't want you to think I was like the rest
Who think they own you just
Because you've laid with them?

It didn't matter, really didn't matter, oh
It didn't matter, now we are together

There are crystal hearts just waiting to be smashed
And out to break them are the ones who never last
Too soon today and gone tomorrow
And taking with them just another little piece of you

You know that it didn't matter, oh
It didn't matter, now we are together
You know that it didn't matter, oh
It didn't matter, now we are together

There are those who think it's smart
Thinking that they stole your love and broke your heart
Too much, too soon and gone tomorrow
Well, my love doesn't need to lend, or steal, or borrow

It didn't matter, you know that it didn't matter
It didn't matter, you know that it didn't matter
It didn't matter, you know that it didn't matter
It didn't matter, you know that it didn't matter

Really didn't matter, it didn't matter
You know that it didn't matter, oh
It didn't matter, really, really didn't matter
It didn't matter, you know that it didn't matter
It didn't matter, really, really didn't matter

It didn't matter
Too soon today and gone tomorrow
You know that it didn't matter
And taking with them just another little piece of you

It didn't matter, you know that it didn't matter
I know now, I know now
It didn't matter, you know that it didn't matter
It didn't matter, you know that it didn't matter

It didn't matter, you know that it didn't matter
It didn't matter, you know that it didn't matter
I know now, I know now
It didn't matter, you know that it didn't matter
It didn't matter, you know that it didn't matter
I know now, I know now
